

I signed up for NJ's "Do Not Call" list as soon as it was available, and I am completely happy with the results. I am no longer interrupted during meals or other activities by unwanted offers of subscriptions, home repairs, phone providers, and all the rest.

I have just read that NJ's law may be rescinded because it is too strict. How absurd!!!! It is the federal law that needs upgrading to make it as strict as NJ's law. I am proud that my state cares about the people who live here, and has taken measures to protect my privacy from being invaded with unsolicited and unwanted calls. Please do not remove that barrier against intrusion.
